

Caroline Bradley: INTERNATIONAL FINANCE: SPRING 2019

COURSE MATERIALS: Class materials will be available from the class blog at <https://www.blenderlaw.com/international-finance/> .The blog will help to structure the course and class discussion and will link to useful resources. You should check the blog at least once each week during the semester. The blog and course materials together represent the materials for which you are responsible on the exam. As far as the blog goes this means items posted directly to the blog. I will sometimes post links to other material - in this case you are not required to click through to the other site unless I expressly state that you should do so.

COURSE OBJECTIVE : The course will be organized to focus on specific issues in transnational finance and regulation.

The topics for the class will be: 1. Introduction to International Finance; 2. Litigation Issues in International Financial Transactions; 3. Issues in Transnational Financial Regulation; 4. Compliance and International Finance: Sanctions, Money Laundering, Libor; 5. Fintech; 6. Climate Change: Financial Stability and Climate Finance.

We will read some cases in this class but the readings for the class may include a range of other types of document such as proposed regulations, consultation documents, responses to consultations, reviews of policy by legislative bodies, publications of transnational standard-setters and international financial institutions.

ASSESSMENT : EITHER A TAKEHOME WRITTEN EXAMINATION OR ONLY WITH THE PRIOR APPROVAL OF THE INSTRUCTOR (INCLUDING APPROVAL OF THE TOPIC) A PAPER ON A TOPIC RELATING TO THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THE CLASS

ATTENDANCE AND CLASS PARTICIPATION: You are entitled to three unexplained absences from class during the semester. I reserve the right to lower the grade of anyone who misses more than three classes without informing me of the reason for their absence. I also reserve the right to drop from class a student who misses a substantial number of classes (whether or not those absences are explained). If you miss a class please do ask me if you have any questions about the material you missed. Consistent and useful participation in class may raise your grade.

If you have a disability, or suspect that you may have a disability, the Law School encourages you to contact the Law School's Office for Student Accessibility and Inclusion for information about available opportunities, resources, and services. The office telephone number is 305-284-9907, and the web page is at <https://www.law.miami.edu/students/student-accessibility-and-inclusion?op=0> .